Category Manager - Transport & Fleet

Based in East Tamaki, Auckland

Strategic Category Management focus We are clear in our aspiration of being the best delivery business for Aotearoa. Our customers want digital experiences and real time visibility and in response we're creating an unmatched delivery backbone and last mile network, we're implementing technology, data assets and infrastructure to digitalise and optimise our network.

Kōrero mō te tūranga - About the role In this newly created role, you'll be a core part of our Strategic Contracts & Relationships team, reporting through to the GM.

You'll design and execute a Transport and Fleet Category strategy, which will involve conducting commercial negotiations, contract and risk management, and supply base optimisation.

You'll be leading the development and execution of successful third-party delivery, commercial, contract and supply chain management frameworks which including relationship, performance, issues, risks, budget, and penalties It will see you working cross functionally with key stakeholders to drive optimal contracting and supply chain strategies, ensuring the best outcome for NZ Post, and building a roadmap of initiatives to support business objectives in line with the category strategy.

The category will be made up of First, Middle & Last Mile outsourced or direct managed fleet sub-categories, will include Air, Ferry, Line Haul, Van, Car, Motorbikes, E-bikes, Fleet Management and Fuel.

We also have a goal to be carbon neutral from 2030. We will do this by reducing our carbon emissions by 32% (from our 2018 baseline) and offsetting our remaining emissions from 2030.

100% of our own fleet will be electric by the end of 2025, 25% of our Last Mile Delivery Partners fleet will be electric by the end of 2025 and 100% will be electric by 2030.

You will be a key part of planning and execution of this goal. Mōu - About you You'll be an experienced Supply Chain or Contract Management practitioner, who has clocked up some miles within the Transport & Fleet category, ideally within an operational environment.

You'll also have up to date knowledge of the global transport and fleet landscape, know what's on offer, what's possible and what it looks like from a dollar perspective.

You'll combine this with being

A confident decision maker with strong negotiation skills and influencing communication skills, able to build strong, effective relationships externally and internally, at all levels of the business

Able to display outstanding time management and organisational skills coupled with a genuine willingness to include others as you work towards a common goal

Having a continuous improvement mind-set, actively challenging existing processes and implementing new ways of working

Experienced in vendor and relationships management with a working knowledge of outsourcing arrangements. It goes without saying but we'll say it anyway, you'll also need to have strong commercial acumen and a solid understanding of Goods & Services contracts.
